

FLEXI-BOUNCE THERAPY

MAKING THERAPY FUN - EVERY DAY

A solution to a perennial issue

Many schools and centres for people with additional needs can only provide Rebound Therapy sessions once or twice a week due to their number of students and only having one or two full sized trampolines. During holiday times, sessions stop altogether.

There is now a solution to this dilemma

ReboundTherapy.org have developed a comprehensive, graded exercise and development programme for the use of an orthopaedic quality rebounder by children and adults across a wide spectrum of additional needs. The programme is called 'Flexi-Bounce Therapy'. It enables students and service users to benefit from fun therapy sessions on a daily basis in between their scheduled Rebound Therapy sessions, and at home during holidays.

The Flexi-Bounce Therapy online training course

ReboundTherapy.org have developed a certificated training course to equip candidates to use a quality rebounder for the benefit of children and adults with a wide range of disabilities.

The training course is ideal for teachers, trainers, carers, teaching assistants, physiotherapists, OTs, other healthcare professionals and sports coaches. The course includes video instruction, safety aspects, a development programme, and comprehensive instruction on how to accurately measure and record progress and provide evidence of outcomes.
